

Purpose of Workshop: Present and Listen

Since the project's First Public Workshop in November 2004, Alternatives Retained for Detailed Study (ARDS) have been developed based on:

- Comments and input from the November 2004 Public Workshop.
- Input from the Federal and State environmental resource and regulatory agencies.
- Project team field work examining natural and cultural resources.
- Project team engineering and traffic studies.
- Consideration of existing and planned development.

The purpose of the second Public Workshop is to obtain input from you and to assist DelDOT in refining the Alternatives Retained for Detailed Study. The public comments received at this workshop and during the ensuing comment period as well as further input from the resource and regulatory agencies will lead to the preparation and circulation of a Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS). The DEIS may also include a Recommended Preferred Alternative. Comments will be accepted through February 19, 2007.

Public input on the project is welcomed and encouraged. Information about the project, the Alternatives Retained for Detailed Study and the official comment form can be obtained from DelDOT's project website at:
